

Vubiz Wins Top Awards for e-Learning Excellence!

Mississauga, ON (VB) – Vubiz Ltd, known for providing extensive online learning services including custom courseware design, has been highly recognized for their excellence in online training by the Canadian Society for Training and Development (CSTD), Canada's only national association for workplace learning and performance professionals. Each year the CSTD recognizes exemplary online training programs in a number of different categories.

In 2002, Vubiz in partnership with client Entretel Inc, received the award for Best External E-Learning Program with their "Telepro Online Complete Program" (Telephone Customer Contact Training) which brought rave reviews: "This program demonstrates solid instructional design"; "All elements of E-Learning program design are used"; "Excellent example of how an e-learning program should be designed".

In 2004, they won again, in partnership with client Williams & Goffin Consulting Inc. for the "best designed and developed e-learning program" entitled "Strategic Selling".

And this year, Vubiz and client Legal Aid Ontario were presented the honourable mention award on Nov. 8th at the CSTD President's Dinner for their program "Training on a Customized PeopleSoft Software Implementation for Legal Aid Ontario". This program proved to be a cost and time effective training solution to support the implementation of new technology into the LAO workplace, which consisted of 700 LAO staff dispersed across 75 legal offices throughout Ontario.

Jim Rapino, President of Vubiz says, "we are very proud of all these awards. They represent online programs that are true benefits to the training profession because they best illustrate the successful marriage of high quality instructional design and leading-edge multimedia in meeting clients' needs through e-learning".

Vubiz is also the proud recipient of the National Quality Institute's 2005 Canada Awards for Excellence, Small Business Customer Service Gold Award. To learn more about how Vubiz can serve your e-learning needs, visit their website at www.vubiz.com or contact Jim Rapino at (905) 569-2280 ext 22.
